

The American Literature Association Annual Conference
Boston
May 25-28 2017

The Arthur Miller Society would like to offer two panels. One will concentrate on how Miller approaches issues of women and gender in his plays and the other can be an open panel (depending on submissions) that addresses any other aspect of Miller's work, productions of that work, or ideas for teaching Miller's work.

Please submit brief proposals of no more than 250 words to Sue Abbotson (sabbotson@ric.edu) by January 1st 2017 so that they can be reviewed before the conference proposal deadline. Selections will be made by the close of January.
