28th Annual Conference on American Literature

May 25-28, 2017

Conference Director
Olivia Carr Edenfield
Georgia Southern University

Program Draft as of April 25, 2017

This on-line draft of the program is designed to provide information to participants in our 28th conference and provide them with an opportunity to make corrections. Participants should check the description of their papers and panels to ensure that names and titles and other information are spelled appropriately.

Organizers of Panels should verify that all sessions are listed properly, including business meetings that have been requested. It may be possible to add a business meeting. Also, organizers must make sure that they have contacted each of their panelists about registering for the conference. Please see below the important information regarding conference registration.

Times of Panels: If there is a conflict in the program (i.e., someone is booked to appear in two places at the same time), please let me know immediately. The program indicates that a few slots for business meetings are still open, but it will be difficult to make other changes. You can presume that the day of your panel is now fixed in stone (and it will not change without the concurrence of every person on that panel) but it may be necessary to make minor changes in the time of a panel.

Audio-Visual Equipment: The program makes note of all sessions that have requested AV. Please understand that it may be difficult or impossible to add any audio-visual requests at this point, but individuals may make such requests. The ALA normally provides a digital projector and screen to those who have requested it at the time the panel or paper is submitted. Individuals will need to provide their own laptops and those using Macs are advised to bring along the proper cable to hook up with the projector. Please note that we no longer provide vcrs or overhead projectors or tape players, nor do we provide microphones. WE CANNOT PROVIDE INTERNET ACCESS; ALL MATERIALS FROM WEBSITES NEED TO BE DOWNLOADED TO YOUR LAPTOP.

Registration and Hotel: All ALA participants are required to register for the conference. This is true for anyone presenting, chairing, or simply attending. We ask that all participants pre-register on-line for the conference or, if necessary, a participant may mail in a check by completing the registration form found on the ALA website. Pre-registration information will be used to make conference name badges, which will be available at the registration desk, along with copies of the program, during the scheduled registration hours.

On-line registration allows participants to pay with credits cards. We will not be able to take credit cards on site. If you must pay on-site, please contact ALA Executive Assistant, Molly Donehoo, at md03851@georgiasouthern.edu and note that you must pay by cash or check.

Registration fees go up after April 15, 2017.

It is also important that you make your hotel reservation as soon as possible. Details for that are also on the ALA conference page.

Please email all corrections directly to Professor Olivia Carr Edenfield carr@georgiasouthern.edu and copy the organizer of your session.

If something prevents you from presenting your paper, please notify the chair of your panel and the conference director as soon as possible.

Corrections and changes should be possible through the month of March and the first couple of weeks in April. An updated program will be posted every week until we go to press during the second week of April. Printed programs will be available at the conference along with conference badges.

Thank you for your support of the American Literature Association

The Raven's Trail Walking Tour of Poe's Boston

This 75-minute tour explores Poe's connections to Boston—from his birth here in 1809 to his return as a young man in 1827 and his controversial appearance before the Boston Lyceum in 1845. Though Poe spent less than a year living in Boston, he was intensely engaged throughout his career with the writers and editors he called "Frogpondians." Sites visited include the likely Poe birthplace, Poe Square, the grave of Charles Sprague (called the Banker-Poet of Boston), the mansion where Henry Wadsworth Longfellow got married (seen from Boston Common), and (of course!) the Frog Pond. The tour ends at Stefanie Rocknak's statue, Poe Returning to Boston, allowing for Q&A and selfies taken with Boston's most photogenic sculpture. Your guide is Paul Lewis, Boston College English professor and president of the Poe Studies Association.

No charge; modest donation requested for maintenance of the Poe statue.

The tour starts at 9:45 a.m. in front of the Found Hotel at 78 Charles Street South, Boston MA 02116.

Note: The Found Hotel is about 1.5 blocks south of Boylston Street on Charles Street South.

Please arrive by 9:40 a.m. No rain date; the tour will run in all but stormy weather.

The Raven's Trail Walking Tour of Poe's Boston

This 75-minute tour explores Poe's connections to Boston—from his birth here in 1809 to his return as a young man in 1827 and his controversial appearance before the Boston Lyceum in 1845. Though Poe spent less than a year living in Boston, he was intensely engaged throughout his career with the writers and editors he called "Frogpondians." Sites visited include the likely Poe birthplace, Poe Square, the grave of Charles Sprague (called the Banker-Poet of Boston), the mansion where Henry Wadsworth Longfellow got married (seen from Boston Common), and (of course!) the Frog Pond. The tour ends at Stefanie Rocknak's statue, Poe Returning to Boston, allowing for Q&A and selfies taken with Boston's most photogenic sculpture. Your guide is Paul Lewis, Boston College English professor and president of the Poe Studies Association.

No charge; modest donation requested for maintenance of the Poe statue.
The tour starts at 9:45 a.m. in front of the Milner Hotel at 78 Charles Street South, Boston MA 02116.

Note: The Milner Hotel is about 1.5 blocks south of Boylston Street on Charles Street South. Please arrive by 9:40 a.m. No rain date; the tour will run in all but stormy weather.
