

The Constance Fenimore Woolson Society is seeking proposals on the theme of "disappearing women" for the annual ALA conference in San Francisco, May 24-27. In this vein, we encourage papers about Woolson and her contemporaries that might cover but are not limited to the following subjects:

- Recovered women writers in the classroom
- Recovered women writers in the canon
- 'Disappearing' women writers in the literary canon
- Social invisibility in the Nineteenth Century
- Narratives of disappearance
- Women writers and archival absence

Please send a brief email by January 10, 2018 to jmaffleming@utexas.edu introducing yourself and telling us about what you would like to discuss. We highly encourage unconventional presentations rather than standard conference papers.
