

Western Literature Association – ALA 2018

This is a general call for papers or panels on topics related to western American literature. Of particular interest are papers that challenge conventional models of or assumptions about culture and/of/in the West, but all topics will be considered. If you're interested in presenting on a WLA-sponsored panel, please submit to me <nwitschi@westernlit.org> a paper proposal (title and a brief abstract) no later than Friday 26 January. If you're interested in proposing a complete session, please let me know ASAP so that we can discuss the salient details.
