

CALL FOR PAPERS

The Journal of Empire Studies is an open-access online journal featuring topics in the rise and fall of empire. We are looking for papers in a broad range of fields, from literature to military science, architecture to sociology.

We feature interviews with the authors as well as visuals and a review. This journal is intended for teachers and students, to bridge the gap between new scholarship and the classroom. It has grown out of my experience teaching a course in Empire and Literature.

We also need an Associate Editor to expand the journal's capacity, both in content and digital reach. I can pay a small honorarium of $300 per month for three months.

Tom Durwood

www.empirestudies.com

tdurwood@gmail.com