

“American Poetry”
A Symposium Sponsored by the American Literature Association

February 20-22, 2020

Kimpton Hotel Palomar
2121 P Street NW
Washington, DC 20037

Conference Director: Richard Flynn, Georgia Southern University

Acknowledgments:

The conference director wishes to express his appreciation to a number of people who provided help with planning the program. Executive Assistant Emily Pittman and graduate assistant Lizzy Geddy offered invaluable help with the program and registration; my colleague Olivia Carr Edenfield, Director of the American Literature Association, helped me in numerous ways, offering daily advice and supervising the final program—I appreciate her friendship, trust, and support. The Association and I both thank the Department of Literature at Georgia Southern University, Department Head Beth Howells, and the College of Arts and Humanities for their continued support. The director also thanks the College of Arts and Humanities for its support. Thanks to our keynoter, Aldon Lynn Nielsen, for his address, for forty-one years of friendship, and for introducing me to the American Literature Association by inviting me to participate in his DC Writers panel at the second annual conference in 1991. Of course, I offer special thanks to Alfred Bendixen, the founder, Executive Director, and guiding light of the American Literature Association, who handled all the hotel arrangements and who assisted me with planning the program. Most of all, I would like to thank all the participants in this exciting symposium for your exemplary commitment to poetry and poetry scholarship.
