American Literature Association

A Coalition of Societies Devoted to the Study of American Authors

33rd Annual Conference on American Literature
Chicago, IL

May 26-29, 2022

Conference Director
Leslie Petty
Rhodes College

This on-line draft of the program is designed to provide information to participants in our 33rd conference and an opportunity to make significant corrections such as misspellings and typographical or content errors. Please send your corrections directly to the conference director at pettyL@rhodes.edu as soon as possible. Updates will be published on-line weekly until we go to press.

Please note that the printed program will be available at the conference. Opportunities to advertise in the printed program are available at a cost of $250 per camera ready page – further information may be obtained by contacting Professor Alfred Bendixen, the Executive Director of the ALA, at ab23@princeton.edu.

Audio-Visual Equipment: The program also lists the audio-visual equipment that has been requested for each panel. The ALA normally provides a digital projector and screen to those who have requested it at the time the panel or paper is submitted. Individuals will need to provide their own laptops and those using Macs are advised to bring along the proper cable/adaptor to hook up with the projector. Please note that we no longer provide vcrs or overhead projectors or tape players and we cannot provide internet access.

Registration: Participants must pre-register for the conference by going to the website at <http://americanliteratureassociation.org/ala-conferences/registration-and-conference-fees/> and either completing on line-registration which allows you to pay with a credit card or completing the registration form and mailing it along with the appropriate check to the address indicated.

Please remember that all participants in the 33rd Annual ALA Conference are required to pre-register in order to remain on the program. Those who have not pre-registered by April 15th will be informed that they will be dropped by May 1 if they do not pre-register. I regret that it will be necessary to strictly enforce this policy.

Please make your hotel reservations as soon as possible. You can do so by going to

<http://americanliteratureassociation.org/ala-conferences/ala-annual-conference/> and following the directions posted.

If something prevents you from presenting your paper, please notify the chair of your panel and the conference director as soon as possible.

Please note that our rules permit individuals to present only one formal paper at the annual conference. Individuals may present one paper and also serve on roundtables and chair sessions.

A few sections still need chairs and we welcome volunteers who should contact the conference director if they are interested in chairing a specific session.

At present, the city of Chicago, the site of our 2022 conference, is under a mask mandate. It is impossible for us to know what kind of mandates and restrictions might be in force during our conference at the Palmer House Hilton on May 26-29, 2022, but the American Literature Association is committed to following all applicable laws and doing everything possible to ensure that we can meet safely and productively.

We expect all participants in our conferences to be fully vaccinated.

We hope to be able to ensure as much social distancing as possible in the meeting rooms and the public spaces of the hotel.

We may need to require that individuals wear masks during much of the conference.

At present, we are focusing on a live, in-person conference in which individuals can engage in the free exchange of ideas and information. We have no plans to offer a virtual option or to permit individuals to present via on-line services or pre-recorded sessions.

We look forward to a renewal and enlargement of the collegial scholarly experience that is central to the mission of the American Literature Association.

Thank you for your support of the American Literature Association

Leslie Petty, 2022 Conference Director
