Call for Proposals

American Literature Association 2027

The Society for the Study of American Jewish Literature is happy to solicit proposals for our programming at the 38th Annual American Literature Conference, which will be held in Boston at the Westin Copley Place, May 26-29, 2027.

Contemporary Voices in American Jewish Literature

For this panel, we are seeking new voices and new approaches to contemporary American Jewish Literature. We welcome proposals that consider emerging genres as well as expanding directions in and definitions of American Jewish literature. We are hoping to include a broad range of writers and approaches. Please send a title, a 100-200 word abstract, and brief biographical sketch to Victoria Aarons, Programming Chair (vaarons@trinity.edu) by December 15, 2026.
